

Little House in the Big Woods: Charley and the Wasps

During the harvest in chapter eleven, Charley is supposed to be helping Pa and Uncle Henry in the fields, but instead he makes trouble and is then stung by yellow jackets.

1. Do you think Uncle Henry should have punished Charley for causing trouble and screaming the first three times?
2. Would you have gone to check on Charley when he screamed for the fourth time?
3. Do you think it served Charley right to be stung by the yellow jackets?
4. Pa said that it served Charley right for being a liar. Laura couldn't understand how Charley lied when he didn't say anything. Why do you think Pa called Charley a liar?
