

Little House in the Big Woods: Animal Tracks Research Activity

Laura talks about the many animal tracks she saw in the big woods.

Pa showed Laura the tracks of the wild creatures in the snow at the sides of the road. The small, leaping tracks of cottontail rabbits, the tiny tracks of field mice, and the feather-stitching tracks of snowbirds. There were larger tracks, like dogs' tracks, where foxes had run, and there were the tracks of a deer that had bounded away into the woods.

Chapter 8, Dance at Grandpa's, Little House in the Big Woods

Research animal tracks with either a book at home or on the internet with a parent's help, and hand draw what each print looks like in the boxes below.
